THE EXCLUSIVITY CONVERSATION

What are we choosing?

Say what you each want before filling the shared space. An honest “not yet” or “no” must remain possible.

What I want

One person’s name

What I want at this stage

What I want

The other person’s name

What I want at this stage

What we both actually agreed

Our own words — leave open if we have not agreed

One action I chose

One action the other person chose

What remains open, or means “not yet”

If either answer changes

How we will bring it up

A next conversation, if both want one

This is a memory aid for a mutual conversation. It is not a contract or a demand for proof.