PERSONAL MATCHMAKING

A little clarity.
A useful next step.

YOUR PRACTICAL COMPANION

Make a simple invitation.

A small plan you can actually send.

Use a detail you already share. Offer a small next step and leave room for the other person to choose.

Something we already share

The small next step I want to suggest

TWO OPTIONS

Make the timing clear.

Option 1: date + time + location / time zone

Option 2: date + time + location / time zone

For a call across countries, confirm the date and local time in both places.

PUT IT IN YOUR WORDS

My invitation.

“I enjoyed talking about [shared detail]. Would you like to [next step]? I could do [option 1] or [option 2]. What would work for you?”

What we actually agree on

An invitation leaves room for a different suggestion or a no. Keep the plan small enough for either person to choose comfortably.
